

GENERAL ARTICLES

A PATHOLOGICAL DINNER DANCE

Menu

Measley Beef or Pork
 Tabby Cat Hearts
 Thrush Breast's
 Fleabitten Kidney
 Hare Lips on Cleft Plates with onion skin sauce and eggshell crackling

Choice of:

Chocolate Cysts and Melon Seed Bodies
 Cooked Macaroni of S. Arteriti
 Strawberry G. B. with Mulberry
 Stones
 Sago Spleens with Nutmeg Liver

Floor Show

"The Girdle of Venus" by S. Aortitis.
 Anaplasia Music by M. BOLI and His Water Hammer Pulses.

Credits

Erythema pernio available at the bar.
 Varicose cigarettes by Taenia
 Service

Rice Water Stools by V.B.O. Cholera.
 Peau d'Orange must not be thrown on the floor. No Hob-Nailed livers on the dance floor... please.

(Adapted from "Potty'd Pathology" by J. P. Hicks; submitted by Charles McBride, '57.)

OSLER MEDAL

In order to stimulate interest and research in medical history among students of the Medical Schools of the United States and Canada, the American Association of the History of Medicine has established a Medal that will be granted annually to the author of the best student essay submitted to the Association.

The Medal has been named in honor of William Osler, who more than any other academic teacher succeeded in creating among students enthusiasm for the history of medicine.

The Association will consider unpublished essays by men or women who were students in Schools of Medicine and had not yet obtained their doctor's degree at the time the essay was written.

Essays that are the result of original research will be given preference but the Association will also consider essays which, without being the result of original research, show an unusual appreciation and understanding of historical problems.

Essays should not exceed 10,000 words in length.

Essays must be sent before March 1st, 1955 to:

Lloyd G. Stevenson, M.D. Chairman,
 Faculty of Medicine,
 McGill University,
 3640 University Street,
 Montreal, Canada.